Scrap Bag Quilts

Learn the technique of hills and valleys scrap bag quilts shown by Agnes Leer at the March 9 meeting of the Minnesota Quilters at 10 a.m.
The meeting will be at the new Minneapolis YWCA, 1130 Nicollet Ave. The program will be first.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Start with quilters—add sons, daughters, spouses and parents and friends. Multiply this by long hours. Add hospitable concern, enthusiasm, endurance, letter-writing, financial balancing, filing, carpenter skills, clerical work, janitorial chores, teaching, scheduling, coordinating. The bottom item reads, "scheduling it all on time." The sum of the whole is staggering.
I had planned to sit down after the symposium and write notes to everyone who worked so hard to make it a success. After doing my math, I realize that there is no beginning and no end. The satisfaction that I wanted to have from telling each person how much his/her effort helped to make our symposium and quilt show a triumph is an impossible dream. It cannot be done.

I can make a beginning. I can tell you quilters. And you, in turn, can pass along the "thank yous". Something I've said so many times you may be tired of hearing it, I will say again...one of the things that makes quilting so special is the caring quality of the people you meet through it. To all of you who worked so hard, my thanks.
Pass the word.

BUS TOUR TO ROCHESTER QUILT SHOW

The regular April meeting date is Good Friday, so save April 20 and ride the bus to the Hiawathaland Quilt Faire sponsored by Tom and Joy Burson.

Busses will leave from Rosedale, Brookdale and Southtown for the ride to Assisi Heights Auditorium in Rochester.

Bus fair is $6. Lunch is available by reservation for $3.25. Admission is $1.50.

Reservations must include payment! Send checks by April 15, payable to the Minnesota Quilters, to Agnes Leer, 352 Cimmaron Rd., Apple Valley, 55124. Historical Society Presents Programs

The Minnesota Historical Society will present four Saturday afternoon programs, planned in conjunction with the quilt exhibit "Minnesota Patchwork."

- March 10, Helen Kelley will present her slide program "Where in the World Did That Come From?" which traces the origins of traditional and contemporary patchwork quilts from around the world.
- March 24, Helen Kelley and Pat Cox will give a narrative of the "Minn. Patchwork" exhibit, discussing the history and pattern of each quilt, display techniques, and conservation methods.
- April 7, Pat Cox will give a workshop on the log cabin quilt. She discusses the traditional log cabin pattern, reviews the possibilities in design, and teaches participants how to piece and quilt the pattern in a single operation.
- April 21, Sharon Bobgan and Abby Walden share their program on quilter's feelings.

Programs are from 2-4 p.m. Reservations are required. Call 612-296-2881. Education Division.
Winter Fantasy Jan, 1979
St. Paul Radisson

It's past history!
But it was some history.
Virginia Avery, one of the featured speakers said it something like this: Sometime soon a historian is going to have to study this strange tribe of persons who live all over the country; who, at the drop of a hat, leave their homes and families to flock together to talk quilts. (some of them even dipping into next month's grocery money to get there.)

25% were full-time participants and 20 attended part-time. An estimated 2000 spectators viewed the quilts. The weather was beautiful.
Committee members, friends and relatives worked feverishly to make the event a success.

Show-goers by bus, car and on foot flocked to see the 85 unusual quilts at the Landmark Center; 50 very special quilts at the Minnesota Historical Society (their exhibit is up until labor day); 120 juried quilts at the Radisson along with the block contest entrants; and a special showing of excellent antique quilts shown by Joyce Auferheide of the Hands-All-Around Quilt Museum in New Ulm.

If you think quilts are just traditional, new horizons were opened by Virginia Avery, who through slides showed what interesting changes can be made by using different colors, larger print fabrics, fabrics with nap, fabrics turned upside down; texture changes and technique changes.

An outstanding collection of Amish quilts was shown by Donna and Bryce Hamilton along with their discoveries and insight into Amish life and the differences between Pennsylvania and Ohio Amish quilts.

Workshops were bulging and each was an exciting area of study. (some of these may be repeated for MQ members at a future date).

Michael James lecture was an eye-opener to what's new in quilts, color texture and techniques.

When Michael was through speaking, horns honked, drums beat and the full male detachment of Winter Carnival Royalty in costume finery marched in and took over the meeting for the purpose of knighting Pat Cox as Baroness of Winter Fantasy; Helen Kelley as Duchess Supreme of the Minnesota Quilters; and Jeannie Spears as Countess of Fun, Fun, Fun.

When all the hoopla was over, participants were entertained by Shari Bobgan and Abby Walden who shared through prose and poetry the feeling of quilters. (a program they will repeat May 11 at the MQ meeting at the Minn. Historical Society.

Beth Gutchens's slide lecture was highlighted with her speculation on what will be the quilts of the future and why they are art. Her husband Jeffrey, an accomplished quiltmaker and professional musician, entertained on the piano and was joined by Virginia Avery in a jazz piano duet.

After announcing the winner of the snow rose quilt (Helen Wojciak, 3615 2½ St. N.E., Minneapolis, a recent widow who was tickled to get the quilt, her first win ever, and whose house is blue) and announcing who bid the highest on the Winter Carnival Quilt (the Winter Carnival Assn. backed out at the last minute): Mrs. Arlene Swanson, North Oaks, St. Paul, a Minnesota Quilter who appreciates the old and bid $451. and saying thank you's Winter Fantasy was indeed past history.

Quilts Help Dedicate Church

Members of the Minnesota Quilters, and the Hand of Friendship quilt group will demonstrate during the community open house for the new Colonial Church in Edina, 6200 Colonial Way, Edina, from 10-12 Feb. 21.

Mennonite, Amish and Appalachian quilts from the collection of Orrel Thompson of American Sampler shop in Butler Square, will be on display from Feb. 18-25. MQ member Betty Koss is in charge of the demonstrations.

Chit Chat

As of Feb. 15, MQ has 233 members.

Special thanks to all who worked on the Winter Fantasy. I've been asked to say thanks to Connie Kelley and Mary Leier's mother.

Symposium...Would you believe that Webster's dictionary first usage of that word means "drinking party". Ugh!

MQ members may be making a quilt for the governor's mansion. We'll let you know more later.

Pat Cox, a key organizer of the Winter Fantasy, joked about the definition of a committee. "The best number on a committee is three because one usually gets sick, one is out of town and one makes all of the decisions."

If you're a collector, there are 10 sewing caddies left. Write to Frances Whitney, 330 Van Buren Ave. N., Hopkins, 55343.

The clever Christmas card from Emma Thorp, Atwater, made a hit. Thanks. She cut a fabric sunbonnet lady and glued her on a plain note card, adding details in ink.

Shirley Wilkens Hartman, Crookston, suggests MQ vest owners put a dot or star on their map to show where you live.

If you would like an escape, think about "Stitchery Re-Treat" March 20-April 1 or Sept. 21-23 at Long Lake Conservation Camp near Palisades, Mn. Send SASE to Sally Hart Bergen, 5005 Oliver Ave. S., Minneapolis, 55419.

The Washington County Library system is looking for someone who will speak free or for mileage in Afton, Forest Lake, Stillwater, etc. Call Barb Byers, 225-0845.

How to Enlarge Patterns
by Jeanette Michels

Method 1  "Square Method"

1. Draw a frame around design to be used.
2. Divide into equal squares.
3. Make a second frame the desired size; divide it also into the number of squares of the original.
4. Carefully transfer the design.

Method 2  "Diagonal Method"

1. Make a tracing of the original design.
2. Draw a square or rectangle around it.
3. Draw a second square or rectangle the desired size.
4. Put diagonal lines from corners to opposite corners of both outlines.
5. Draw horizontal and vertical lines to divide each outline equally.
6. Copy design from original onto larger outline.

Method 3  "Projection Method"

1. Make a tracing of your own design and draw a square or rectangle around it.
2. Divide into squares and number them.
3. Place a larger sheet of tracing paper over your smaller tracing.
4. Draw diagonal line through the corners to desired size.
5. Draw lines over to meet diagonal from extended sides.
6. Divide desired larger design into equal number of squares to original.
7. Number squares.
8. Transfer the design.
I am a quiltermaker—teacher—designer—enthusiast.

Sugar Hills Craft Program

Sugar Hills resort offers one week's free vacation (Sunday afternoon check-in through Saturday night) between June 16 and August 31, 1979, in exchange for informal demonstrations to resort guests. Lodge, cabin, and condominium guests and area residents observe the craftsperson in action, and occasionally take hourly lessons.

The management requests 5-8 hours a day, 6 days out of 7; craftsmen are paid any income from lessons. They sell their items through the resort which charges 20% commission. Craftsmen must furnish their own equipment and instructional materials, which they may sell.

Details about the week's free vacation for the craftsperson and spouse and/or family are available from Mrs. Catherine Skinner, Box 369, Grant Rapids, Mn. 55744.

Please apply before March 1, or phone 1-800-662-5777 for further information.

IT'S YOUR NEWSLETTER

Many of our MQ readers never get to a meeting. Tell me what you would like to hear about in the newsletter. I would like to hear from you with news about what's happening in your area; interesting members; new shows or displays, etc.

Most of all, we would like to be invited to have a meeting in your area. Ask, please.

Next fall, we will have one trial evening meeting to reach more quilters. How do you feel about evening meetings? Would you like both daytime and evening programs? Write about your feelings.

We are having a steady onslaught of crunky weather right now; so take out the stationery and write your letter before spring comes and your thoughts turn to greener things.

Thanks.

Judges Scorecard

The Winter Fantasy Judge Score sheet included this information.
Numerical score for each qualification was graded from poor (1) to excellent (5). Total possible, 25.

Qualifications were:
1. overall appearance
2. workmanship
3. suitability
4. color
5. design

Criteria and comments included these:
1. Overall appearance includes condition of the quilt, neatness, pleasing feel and appearance, uniqueness, relationship of borders to quilt body.
2. Workmanship includes accuracy of piecing or applique, quality of stitching, bindings and corners.
3. Suitability includes compatibility of materials to function to each other, design and color in relationship to intended use.
4. Color includes choice of values to enhance design, rhythm, originality, relationships.
5. Design includes, scale, placement unity, distinctiveness, originality, relationship of quilting design.

Judging is a personal feeling being expressed. The Winter Fantasy had three judges: Charlene Burningham, an MQ member who teaches at the University of Minnesota; Carter Houck, editor of Lady Circle Patchwork Quilts; and Karen O'Doud, owner of "Thing's Americana" a shop in Rockford, Michigan.

This is a new system of judging and has had favorable comment by many who attended the show, including the judges themselves.

There was time during the Fantasy when the judges went through the quilts with interested persons and explained how they judged. This was found to be very helpful.

Many thanks to Joyce Aufderheide of New Ulm who judged the quilt block contest. Her time was much appreciated.
