Thank heaven July '87 has passed—with its 20-plus days of over 90 degree temps and the rain storm of the century! Wasn't it only 10 years ago we had a similar rain? I hope this finds everyone dried out and getting their lives and homes back together.

So far August has had me in a finishing mode. Doesn't it feel good to get a few things that have been hanging over your head finished? I always feel free to start a few more projects, usually at least two more for each one finished. August also brings the county fairs and the State Fairs—visit both—they are so much fun, and the entries are beautiful. It means so much more if you take part. Call Faye Bodenhamer and volunteer to demonstrate in the M.Q. booth for a few hours, people love to stop and chat.

The August daytime meeting was very informative as Helen Kelley was with the Historic Interest Group to clue us in as to what they are all about. I have been to a few of their committee meetings and if I hadn't been interested in this worthwhile project before, I sure am now. It is a very important project, with high ideals. We plan to document, take down a quilt history and photo of as many Minnesota quilts as humanly possible. We have a vast, rich wealth of quilts and quilters here in Minnesota and I can't imagine who better to do this project but MINNESOTA QUILTERS. We hope to get grants from many places and are actively pursuing these to help with the financing. If you are interested in getting involved in this project, or have any ideas, please call or write to me—Kathe Lemmerman, or Norm Steere. (Addresses and phone numbers are on the inside front page of this newsletter.)

Norm is Lynn's mate.

Happy Quilting!
Ann

Daytime Meeting July 10
Minnehaha Park Pavillion

The meeting site was Minnehaha Park, just a few steps from the Falls and occurred on a beautiful summer day. A perfect setting to talk about one of our favorite subjects—quilts. Show and Tell had some members showing projects begun and completed from inspirations from the Quilt Show.

The following announcements were made:
Hopkins Centennial Quilt—Bonne Ellis
Disneyland Block Competition—Carol Wagner.
Evening Meeting—Margaret Ballinger
(First Thursday of the month)
Quilt History Project—Norm Steere

The winning volunteer chosen from the Quilt Show was Pat Wiswell.

The day's program was a "hands-on" lesson on basket weaving presented by Glad Creations. It was really a community event with everyone helping with instructions and materials. Thanks the clear instructions provided by Glad Creations, many of our members left with completed projects.

Respectfully submitted,
Diane Quinn, Recording Secretary

June Juncket

On June 23, 1987 seventeen enthusiastic women met in St. Paul and boarded a tour bus expecting an exciting trip ahead. It proved to be that and much more.

Memorable moments included visits to Amish colonies in Shipshewana, Indian and Lancaster County, PA, viewing quilt shows in Athens, Ohio and Easton, PA, shopping Intercourse, PA, attending a Pennsylvania Folk Festival in Kutztown, and brief visit to Cedarburg, Wisconsin. All of us were inspired by the quilts we saw and most of us managed to buy more fabric!

Other memorable moments included running out of gas on a country road somewhere, getting lost on the Chicago Tollway (no, we don’t know how), and witnessing a fire alarm at our Cedarburg Hotel at 11 p.m. Through it all we maintained our sense of humor, learned a lot, and made new friends. We may even plan another trip!

Pushing all the Swings

Ever take a child to the park, put him on a swing and start him off? Right away another child comes over, hops on a swing, and demands “Push me!” Then another and another. “Me, too!” “I’m next.” Suddenly all the swings are filled and the first child is slowing down. You run back and forth, judging which one needs pushing next, giving just the right amount of help. If you are lucky, a child occasionally loses interest, is called home for dinner, or learns to pump for herself.

Life sometimes seems like a frantic effort to push all the swings—a job, the new baby, housework, volunteering, paying bills, PTA, all shouting “Me, too!” If you are lucky, you catch your breath now and then.

The 1988 Show Committee is now making plans for another very special quilt show at Bethel College in Arden Hills (Twin Cities area), June 3, 4, and 5, 1988. Our theme will be “Expressions of Joy.”

Of course, this means that we will have a lot of swings to push during the coming year. As your busy life allows, please help! The swings come in all sizes and shapes, from sizeable committee positions to a few hours of work during the show. A show is a lot of work and also a lot of fun and real satisfaction. We want to make it your show and have as many of you as possible participate. We’ll give you details at the September meetings. If you can’t attend, call or write us and tell us what you like to do. You wouldn’t want us to push all those swings by ourselves!

Bulletin Board Ravelings

Oh those lazy, hazy days of summer have taken their toll! I'm assuming that vacationing quilters are the cause of little news from across the country. One of these days, my postal carrier will come struggling to my door under the weight of a pile of newsletters.

I have noticed over the past months that more and more states are starting quilt documentation projects. It's wonderful to know that the legacies left by early quilters are being recorded.

Quilt Show Reflections

Today I feel renewed! I have just returned from four days at "The Sentimental Journey" in St. Peter, and I’m sure the blood in my veins has new enthusiasm flowing in it. The question is...how long can my creative juices continue while they are constantly being drained by the drudgery of household tasks?

Reflecting on my quilt show experiences, there are certain thoughts that I’m sure will stick with me. Some of them are the following:

Judy Warren: your quilt reflects your life. It reflects what is important to you and where you are in time and space. Judy called this being a "contemporary quilter."

Mary Ellen Hopkins: your quilts don’t need to be fashionably coordinated. Be daring and try a color that isn’t found in your multi-hued anchor piece!

Marianne Fons and Liz Porter: How do you quilt? My goodness, I never imagined there were so many positions for the fingers during stitching. I had to go home and quilt just to comprehend my style.

Georgia Bonesteel: It was great fun seeing slides of her home and her neighborhood inspirations. Her sharing of her recent health problems pointed out her philosophy on life... listen to your body and appreciate the day. Use your hours well and meaningfully!

These are my reflections. If you went to the show, I hope you found people and thoughts that were treasures for you!

Thank You

We would like to thank the Minnesota Quilters for the great show they put on in St. Peter. We enjoyed having them very much. They were patient and understanding while having to wait in the heat for us to cut the fabric they wished to purchase. The name drawn for the Ginger Shears we gave way was Natilee Brumnel from Sioux Center, Iowa. We received a very nice thank you note from her. Thanks again.

The Minnesota Quilt History Project

Quilts, quilt tops and quilt blocks are a unique folk art and can be an important part of area and family history. The Minnesota Quilt Project encourages recording the history of quilts, tops and blocks, preserving them for enjoyment and use, and passing them on within the family of the quiltmaker or the person given the quilt, or a museum that can take care of them.

The Minnesota Quilt Project seeks to find and document quilts, tops and blocks made in Minnesota before 1976, ones brought into the state from 1820 to 1945, and any historic quilts that are in Minnesota now. One goal of the project is to identify typical and unusual patterns, materials and quilts. Another is to develop a series of interpretive exhibits, and to publish information on typical and unusual quilts in private and museum collections. An important part will be to record the history of the women who did the design and needlework.

Local quilt guilds have an excellent opportunity to sponsor the search in their area, with the cooperation of the Minnesota Quilt Project.

The Project is a joint effort of Minnesota Quilters, Inc. and the Minnesota Historical Society.
